

Adventist Health Speakers

It is impossible to provide a “current” list of speakers. God is calling individuals to this work on a daily basis. Your conference health ministries director or the health ministries director in the conference where a speaker lives will usually be able to provide feedback and resource information on possible speakers. For those speakers who were accidentally overlooked in the following list, please send information to the NAD Health and Temperance Department to be included in the next edition.

The following individuals are recommended as weekend seminar or camp meeting speakers.
